GERHARD BASSON

- Some of these places are only known by the locals.
- If a person wants to start a tourism business (or an existing tourism company wants to expand), it would be wise to have a premises in close proximity to tourism venues, so that you can also play the role of tourist guide.

- There are more properties priced towards the lower half (ignoring the 0) than in the higher half.
- The properties in the city centre or priced on the higher end.

DISCUSSION

- The commercial properties in the centre of the city are closest to important points of interest, such as hotels (if one needs to meet with the tourists or provide transport).
- As one can expect, the properties in the City Centre are priced higher.
- If one can arrange transport intelligently (such as collaborating with transportation companies), the proximity of the property should not be a problem.

DISCLAIMER

 Aspects such as the size of the property, access to major routes and accessibility for patrons are not taken into account.

CONCLUSION

Of interest:

- Properties available in Wynberg (average price of R 3 710 000) and Rondebosch (average price of R 4 200 000) should be considered first.
- Properties in Woodstock and Observatory seems a good choice as to their closer proximity to the city centre, but at a higher price (average price of R 8 500 000).

Possible interest:

- The properties in Cape Town City Centre comes with a high price tag, but are closer to all the venues. This should be considered last.
- Property in Plumstead does not have a price (POA), but this could be good for negotiation.

Not of interest:

- Properties in Westlake, although at a lower average price (R 2 030 000), are further away from the city centre and does not seem to be close to major routes.
- Properties in Capricorn seem to be an outlier: high price tag and further from the city centre.
